

2.4) Module

a) Loading of a module

```
<jdoc:include type="module" name="breadcrumbs" />
```

Allows you to load a module position, but only one module can be published in this position. It is used most often to display a breadcrumb.

`name=` : the name of the position you want to load

b) Loading of several modules

```
<jdoc:include type="modules" name="left" />
```

Load a position with all the modules that are published in. Here all the modules published in the position "left" will be loaded.

c) Customizing modules

You can customize the module view using the attribute "style=" at the end of the procedure.

```
<jdoc:include type="modules" name="left" style="xhtml"/>
```

Here are the different styles available natively and their HTML structure: